Kyle Rapinchuk - Let Jesus Lead...Everywhere: Worldview, Identity, and the Christ-Centered Life

This breakout will explore some of the major questions that all worldviews must answer: 1) From where did I come? 2) Who am I? 3) Where am I going? Beginning with Romans 11:33-36, we will explore what it means to live a Christ-centered life, navigate answers to these three major questions, and conclude with some biblical directives for how we let Jesus lead in all aspects and areas of our lives.

Michael Wilbanks – Let Jesus Lead in Purity and on Mission

This breakout discusses the importance of actually doing the things that Jesus said for his followers to do and how most of us are convinced that tradition, rituals, and good intentions (things we do in our own power) are enough. Looking at where our time, money, and energy go shows what we truly value. Are we sacrificing and suffering to make Jesus' name known to others and pointing them to the Kingdom of God? This is the life that Jesus modeled and the life he calls us to. If you are not regularly sharing your faith with others, something is wrong. If you are not either being discipled, discipling others, or both then something is missing. We are saved to glorify God and live on mission for him.

Bill Victor – Mythbusting

Many people today are turned off from the church because of some of the abusive practices of the church throughout history. Things like The Crusades, The Inquisition and some Christians who have validated slavery through the use of the Bible. But is that the full story? I will walk through some of the counter cultural activity of the early church that were actually good for the advancement of humanity. Things like opposing infant exposure, proper understanding of gender roles, stopping the sexual exploitation of children and abolition of slavery were all things the early church stood for that improved the lives of those in the margins.
